"Bloom" Print Pledge Form

Thank you for your generous pledge! Please complete the following form to secure your signed and numbered print of "Bloom" and support the African American Civil War Museum's Grand Reopening.

I, _____, hereby pledge to donate $1,500 to the AACW Museum's Special Fund Drive. To secure my place in line for a signed and numbered print of "Bloom" by Ismani Sun, I am donating a deposit of $500 with this signed form. I understand that my donation is non-refundable. By signing this form, I acknowledge my commitment to the full donation amount by September 30, 2025, to receive my signed and numbered print of "Bloom". The original "Bloom" will be placed on permanent display at the AACW Museum in Washington when it reopens in the Fall of 2025. The artist is producing 150 signed and numbered prints in this series, size 24" x 18".

Ismani Sun's "Bloom" powerfully symbolizes the resilience and hope that emerged from the struggles of the USCT soldiers. This is how she describes the inspiration behind "Bloom": "In the surreal world, the cotton plants loom large, symbolic of the oppression and struggle the USCT soldiers faced. Yet amidst the chaos of battle there is hope—a future where a new generation, represented by the child depicted in the work, can pick up the fruits of the work and envision a life beyond the shadows of the past."

If you have any questions, please contact Dr. Frank Smith, Founder and Executive Director of the AACW Museum, on 202-369-5119 or by email at franksmith@afroamcivilwar.org.
